Seaweeds offer the broadest range of minerals of any food, containing virtually all the minerals found in the ocean. Sea vegetables are extremely nutritious. Comprised of 10 to 35% minerals, seaweed contains beta-carotene and B complex vitamins B1, B2, B3, B6, B12, as well as folic acid and vitamins E and K.

Kelp in particular is nature's richest source of iodine, which as a component of the thyroid hormones is essential to human life. The thyroid gland adds iodine to the amino acids to synthesize hormones which regulate metabolism in every cell of the body and play a role in virtually all physiological functions; therefore, an iodine deficiency can have a devastating impact on health and well-being.
